Wrabacon Control Systems

Wrabacon designs and builds a specialized electrical control system for most every job. Many customers come to Wrabacon because they have special needs to fulfill unique automation applications within their packaging or processing application. Our control systems can be stand-alone units for just our own equipment, or the systems can be fully integrated with new or existing customer machinery. Our programming allows us to respond to the customer's existing line, up to our system controlling and operating the entire line. Whatever the task, Wrabacon guarantees to be in control at all times.
